

GLENVILLE STATE UNIVERSITY POLICIES

PERSONNEL POLICY 19

STAFF DEVELOPMENT

19.1. General.

1.1. Scope This policy establishes guidelines relating to staff training and development programs.

1.2. Authority W. Va. Code § § 18B 1 6 and 18B 7 5

1.3. Effective Date – February 5, 2020

1.4. Revision of Former Policy Repeals and replaces Series 41 of Title 131 Interpretive Rule of the Board of Directors of the State University System of West Virginia effective July 2, 1990 and Glenville State University Policy 19 Staff Development [2004][2018].

19.2. Purposes of Staff Training and

19.4. Staff Eligibility and Participation

4.1. Any person who is an employee of Glenville State University is eligible for staff training and development at the University in accordance with this rule. Participation of eligible personnel is assumed as an inherent part of staff responsibility.

19.5. Board of Governors of Glenville State University: Roles and Responsibilities

5.1. The board shall:

5.1.1. Require Glenville State University to develop and operate a staff training and development program appropriate to the needs and resources of the institution.

5.1.2. Require that Glenville State University support such activities by designating a portion of the funds each year for staff training and development, and report annually to the Board the status of their staff training and development programs.

5.1.3. Sponsor and support statewide and regional conferences and workshops on staff development on a regular basis.

5.1.4. Assist Glenville State University in establishing, upgrading, evaluating or refining staff development programs and in developing techniques and procedures for assessing the effectiveness of staff development programs.

19.6. University: Roles and Responsibilities

6.1. The president or his/her designee shall establish a functioning staff training and development program. The University may have a separate program for staff training and development, or a professional development program combining staff development with other professional development according to the University's needs and resources. If the University provides a combined professional development program, the respective groups representing the participants shall be consulted and involved in creating that program. An advisory committee at the University, which is representative of affected employees, may be used to assist in the initial development of the program and with its on going administration. Through these programs, the University shall conduct in house professional development activities.

6.1.1. The University program shall include the following:

6.1.1.1. A method for identifying training and development needs.

6.1.1.2. A scheduled set of training and development activities, seminars, teleconferences, apprenticeships, on the job training, supervisory skill development programs, etc.

6.1.1.3. An annual written report on training and development activities, including a summary of financial resources dedicated to the program,

